

Please amend the abstract as follows:

ABSTRACT

[H] Methods, systems, data structures and computer program products for deploying software components, including deploying components in an enterprise environment. Components previously installed and components to be installed are identified. Conflicts between such components are then identified. A user may be notified and provided with options. One option is to abort the installation. Another option is to continue the installation. If installation is continued, an entry may be made in a log indicative of the conflict and of the continuation of the installation.